Copying Guidelines for Employees

The CLA Multinational Licence permits all employees in your organisation to make Paper or Digital Copies of content from most books, magazines, journals and periodicals as well as from selected digital publications subject to certain terms and conditions. Copies may be made from publications including those to which you subscribe and from articles or press cuttings provided by licensed external suppliers where a copyright fee has been paid (e.g. from a PR or press cuttings agency or the British Library).

The Licence permits:

- Photocopying
- Scanning
- Copying of digital content, e.g. PDF files from electronic subscriptions or scanned articles circulated by Email

What can I use copies for?

Internal communications, for example:

- To share with colleagues at meetings or briefings
- To share media coverage within your organization
- For market intelligence
- For Health & Safety or Environmental awareness
- For research & development
- For internal training
- For regulatory and patent submissions

Types of publication covered:

- Books
- Magazines
- Trade press
- Journals
- Periodicals
- Law reports
- Reference editions
- Press cuttings received from a press cuttings agency
- Copyright fee paid copies
- Some digital versions of the above (see Digital Publications below) and other digital originals

How much can be copied?

On each occasion you may copy up to 5% of a publication, a single chapter of a book or a single article from a periodical, whichever is the greater.

Who can make and receive copies?

Any employee in your organization, including individual consultants or agency workers, can make and receive copies.

Storage of Digital Copies

You may store Digital Copies (e.g. scanned images or PDFs received by email) on your PC or personal server space. Copies may be held on your company intranet for access by authorised users for a period of up to 30 days. Copies may also be held in a project- or product-based store, provided it is only accessed by employees within the same work group. Digital copies may be annotated provided any such annotation is clearly distinguishable from the original text.

Excluded works

Please note that there are some individual titles, authors and categories of publications that are excluded from the Licence and you will need to contact the copyright owner directly for permission to copy these. A list of these exclusions is on our website www.cla.co.uk/excludedworks.php.

Digital Publications

Copying of UK electronic publications is restricted to publications published by Participating Digital Material Publishers. For full details please visit www.cla.co.uk.

International publications

UK Employees

CLA has agreements with similar agencies in most major overseas territories enabling International publications and content to be copied within the UK under the CLA licence. For full details of these overseas agencies and the countries that are covered please visit www.cla.co.uk.

Employees outside the UK

Copying outside of the UK under the CLA Multinational Licence is restricted to UK and US publications. Additional restrictions apply to US publications. To check whether a US publication may be copied, please visit http://www.cla.co.uk/USA/us_electronic.
